(b) Basis of measurement

These financial statements have been prepared on the historical cost basis.

(c) Functional and presentation currency

These financial statements are presented in Trinidad and Tobago dollars, which is the Company’s functional currency.

(d) Use of estimates and judgements

Estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognized in the period in which the estimates are revised and in any future periods affected. (Continued)

Cost includes expenditure that is directly attributable to the acquisition of the asset. The cost of self-constructed assets includes the cost of materials and direct labour, any other costs directly attributable to bringing the assets to a working condition for their intended use, the costs of dismantling and removing the items and restoring the site on which they are located, and capitalized borrowing costs. Purchased software that is integral to the functionality of the related equipment is capitalized as part of the equipment.

When parts of an item of property, plant and equipment have different useful lives, they are accounted for as separate items of property, plant and equipment.

The gain or loss on disposal of property, plant and equipment is determined by comparing the proceeds from disposal with the carrying amount of the property, plant and equipment, and is recognized net within other income/other expenses in profit or loss. When revalued assets are sold, any related amount included in the revaluation reserve is transferred to retained earnings.

The cost of replacing a component of an item of property, plant and equipment is recognized in the carrying amount of the item if it is probable that the future economic benefits embodied within the component will flow to the Company, and its cost can be measured reliably. The carrying amount of the replaced component is derecognized. The costs of the day-to-day servicing property, plant and equipment are recognized in profit or loss as incurred.

Depreciation is based on the cost of an asset less its residual value. Significant components of individual assets are assessed and if a component has a useful life that is different from the remainder of that asset, that component is depreciated separately.

Depreciation is calculated using the declining balance basis over the estimated useful lives of each item of property, plant and equipment at the following rates:

Motor vehicles	33.33%
Office equipment	15%
Office furniture	20%
Computer equipment	20%
Survey equipment	20%
Leasehold improvements	33.33%

Leasehold improvements are amortised over the term of the lease.

Depreciation methods, useful lives and residual values are reviewed at each reporting date and adjusted if appropriate.

2. Summary of significant accounting policies (continued)

(f) Construction works in progress

Construction work in progress relates to the ongoing construction of the company's headquarters at Brechin Castle, Couva. Infrastructure, fittings and technical fees related to this construction are recognized at cost for works that are not yet complete, but the amount has been paid. These are not considered fixed assets and are therefore not required to be depreciated.

(g) Trade and other receivables

Trade receivables is stated net of any specific provision established to recognise anticipated losses for bad and doubtful debts. Bad debts are written off during the year in which they are identified. Other receivables are recognized at cost less any impairment.

(h) Cash and cash equivalents

For the purposes of the cash flow statement, cash and cash equivalents comprise cash in hand, deposits held at call with banks and investments in money market instruments, net of bank overdraft.

(i) Trade and other payables

Accounts payable is stated at cost.

(j) Provisions

A provision is recognised in the balance sheet when the Company has a present legal or constructive obligation as a result of a past event, and it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation. If the effect is material, provisions are determined by discounting the expected future cash flows at a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments at the time value of money and, where appropriate, the risks specific to the liability.

(k) Revenue recognition

Unconditional grants

Unconditional grants related to the ongoing operations of the Company are recognised at fair values, where there is a reasonable assurance that the grant will be received.

Government grants and subventions

Grants and subventions that compensate the Company for operating expenses incurred are recognised in the Statement of Comprehensive Income over the period necessary to match them with net expenses they are intended to compensate.

Grants that compensate the Company for the cost of an asset are recognised in the statement of comprehensive income as revenue on a systematic basis over the life of the asset.

Sand mining management fees

Management fees represents fees charged to contractors and are recognized on an accruals basis in the statement of comprehensive income over the term of the contractor agreement.

All other revenue is recorded on an accruals basis.

Transactions in foreign currencies are translated to the respective functional currency of the Company at exchange rates at the dates of the transactions. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies at the reporting date are retranslated to the functional currency at the exchange rate at that date. The foreign currency gain or loss on monetary items is the difference between amortised cost in the functional currency at the beginning of the period, adjusted for effective interest and payments during the period, and the amortised cost in foreign currency translated at the exchange rate at the end of the period. Non-monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies that are measured at fair value are retranslated to the functional currency at the exchange rate at the date that the fair value was determined.

Foreign currency differences arising on retranslation are recognised in profit or loss, except for differences arising on the retranslation of available-for-sale equity instruments or a financial liability designated as a hedge of the net investment in a foreign operation.

(m) Taxation

Income tax expense comprises current and deferred tax. Income tax expense is recognised in the income statement except to the extent that it relates to items recognised directly in equity, in which case it is recognised in equity or in other comprehensive income.

Current tax is the expected tax payable or receivable on the taxable income or loss for the year, using tax rates enacted or subsequently enacted at the reporting date, and any adjustment to tax payable in respect of previous years. Current tax payable also includes any tax liability arising from the declaration of dividends.

Deferred tax is recognised in respect of temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities for financial reporting purposes and the amounts used for taxation purposes.

Deferred tax is measured at the tax rates that are expected to be applied to the temporary differences when they reverse, based on the laws that have been enacted or subsequently enacted at the reporting date.

Deferred tax asset and liabilities are offset if there is a legally enforceable right to offset current tax liabilities and assets, and they relate to income taxes levied by the same authority on the same taxable entity, or on different tax entities, but they intend to settle current tax liabilities and assets on a net basis or their tax assets and liabilities will be realised simultaneously.

A deferred tax asset is recognised for unused tax losses, tax credits and deductible temporary differences, to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profits will be available against which the temporary difference can be utilised. Deferred tax assets are reviewed at each reporting date and are reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that the related tax benefit will be realised.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
YEAR ENDED SEPTEMBER 30, 2015

2. Summary of significant accounting policies (continued)

(n) Impairment

The carrying amounts of the Company's assets are reviewed at each balance sheet date to determine whether there is any indication of impairment. If such an indication exists, the asset's recoverable amount is estimated.

An impairment loss is recognised whenever the carrying amount of an asset or its cash-generating unit exceeds its recoverable amount. Impairment losses are recognised in the income statement.

The recoverable amount of other assets is the greater of their net selling price and value in use. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset. For an asset that does not generate largely independent cash inflows, the recoverable amount is determined for the cash-generating unit to which the asset belongs.

An impairment loss is reversed if there has been a change in the estimates used to determine the recoverable amount. An impairment loss is reversed only to the extent that the asset's carrying amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined, net of depreciation or amortisation, if no impairment loss had been recognised.

(o) Deferred development grants

Development grants for projects undertaken on behalf of the Government of Trinidad and Tobago are recognised at fair values, where there is a reasonable assurance that the grant will be received, and the Company will comply with any conditions attached. They are received either in advance or arrears of project expenditure, in full or partially, and are included in current liabilities under deferred development grants.

The costs incurred in these projects for which grants are received, are accumulated in development work in progress and charged against deferred development grants in accordance with IAS 20 Accounting for Government Grants and Disclosure of Government Assistance. As such, any excess of grants over works in progress are treated as Deferred Development Grants while any excess of project expenditure is reported as Development Works in Progress on a net basis in the statement of financial position.

(p) Changes in accounting policy

(i) New and revised standards effective in 2015

A number of new and revised standards are effective for periods beginning on or after 1 January 2015. These are presented below.

These premium annuities matured on October 2, 2009 and July 28, 2010, respectively and the Government of the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago (GORTT) indicated their intention to liquidate CLICO balances over the next twenty (20) years by an initial payment of TT$75,000 in cash and payment of the remaining balance in bonds which are redeemable over a period not exceeding twenty (20) years. Management exercised its option to liquidate these premium annuities and accept GORTT zero coupon bonds payable for twenty (20) years.

Year one to year ten (1-10) zero coupon bonds for both policies were sold in 2012 at eighty-three Cents ($0.83) on the dollar. In 2013, the eleven to twenty year (11-20) bonds were exchanged for units in the CLICO Investment Fund. During the financial year 2015 the company sold its CLICO Investment Funds units at an average loss of $2.39 per unit.

17. Financial instruments

A financial instrument is any contract that gives rise to both a financial asset and a financial liability or equity instrument of another enterprise. For the purpose of these financial statements, financial assets have been determined to include cash, fixed deposits and accounts receivable. Financial liabilities have been determined to include accounts payable.

Estimation of fair values

Fair value amounts represent estimates of the arm's length consideration that would be currently agreed upon between knowledgeable and willing parties who are under no compulsion to act and is best evidenced by a quoted market price if one exists. The estimated fair value of the Company's financial instruments is based on the market prices and valuation methodologies as set out below.

The following summaries the major methods and assumptions used in estimating the fair value of each class of financial instrument for which it is practicable to estimate that value.

Cash and cash equivalents

Assumed to be their carrying value due to their liquidity.

Accounts receivable, accounts payable and accrued liabilities

For receivables and payables with a remaining life of less than one year, the notional amount is deemed to reflect the fair value.

Investments

Investments that are held-to-maturity with a remaining life of more than one year, are measured at amortised costs using the effective interest method for any difference between the initial amount and the maturity amount.

18. Financial risk management

Introduction and overview

The Company has adopted risk management policies and has set appropriate limits and controls to manage and mitigate against financial risk.

Credit risk

The Company has exposure to credit risk which arises through the normal course of its business. Derivative financial instruments are not presently used to reduce exposure to fluctuations in these risks.

Management does not have a credit policy in place, however, exposure to credit risk is not significant. The maximum exposure to credit risk is represented by the carrying amount of the financial asset in the balance sheet.

(i) Trade receivables

Management does not have a credit policy in place however, exposure to credit risk is not significant. The aging of trade receivables at the reporting date was:

(i) Trade receivables (continued)

The movement in the allowance for impairment in respect of trade receivables during the year was as follows:

	2015	2014
	$	$
Balance at the beginning of the year	862,497	560,946
Impairment loss recognized	3,696,511	301,551
	4,559,008	862,497

(ii) Cash and cash equivalents

The Company limits its exposure to credit risk by only investing in liquid securities and only with counterparties that are licensed under the Financial Institutions Act. Management does not expect any counterparty to fail to meet its obligations.

Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company will encounter difficulty in meeting obligations from its financial liabilities. The Company manages its liquidity via prudent cash flow management, to allow it to meet all its financial obligations when they fall due.

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company will not be able to meet its financial obligations as they fall due. The Company's approach to managing liquidity is to ensure, as far as possible, that it will always have sufficient liquidity to meet its liabilities when due, under both normal and stressed conditions, without incurring unacceptable losses or risking damage to the Company's reputation. Liquidity risk may result from an inability to sell a financial asset at, or close to, its fair value.

Typically, the Company ensures that it has sufficient cash on demand to meet expected operational expenses including the servicing of financial obligations.

Operational risk

Operational risk is the risk of direct or indirect loss arising from a wide variety of causes associated with the Company's processes, personnel, technology and infrastructure, and from external factors other than credit, market and liquidity risk, such as those arising from legal and regulatory requirements and generally accepted standards of corporate behaviour. The objective is to manage operational risk so as to balance the avoidance of financial losses and damage to the Company's reputation with overall cost effectiveness.

19. Events after the reporting period

High Court Matters

Following the reporting date, the Company settled several matters that relate to claims from contractors for outstanding monies due for services rendered and breaches of contract in the amount of $83,004,220. These sums were recognized in the financial statements.

Other events

(i) Covid-19 Global Pandemic

The Covid-19 pandemic arose in late 2019 and as at the reporting date has caused global social and economic depression. In March 2020 Trinidad and Tobago closed its international borders and effected "stay at home" and business closure orders for persons and entities deemed non-essential. Whilst this has had a crippling effect on economic activity, the EMBD remained somewhat isolated from negative impacts to income and operations. Management continues to monitor and adjust the company's response during this environment of high uncertainty.

20. Contingent liabilities

(i) On May 6, 2016 a claim was filed against the Company for breach of contract in the sum total of $1,291,877,247. The claim comprises outstanding payment certificates of $968,318,655 plus a claim for accumulated interest charges of $323,558,591 on outstanding payment certificates for works performed in 2014. The EMBD defended this claim and judgment is reserved.

(ii) The Company has on-going High Court matters after the reporting period that relate to claims from contractors for outstanding monies due for services rendered of approximately $547,709,681. As at the date of issue of these financial statements the Company continued to defend these matters.

21. Commitments

During 2015, the Company entered into contracts for infrastructural works and services on Residential and Agricultural Sites. These contracts will give rise to expenditure of $1.78 billion over the next year

First Citizens Bank Limited

The terms with First Citizens Bank Limited are as follows:

- (i) A four (4) year amortized facility for TT$400m to facilitate payments of outstanding balances to contractors at a fixed interest rate of 4% per annum.
- (ii) This facility is secured by an unconditional Deed of Guarantee by the Government of the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago to cover the full extent of the borrowings.

23. Material uncertainty related to going concern

These financial statements have been prepared on the going concern basis despite the net loss of $5,762,444 incurred during the year September 30, 2015 and pending legal proceedings in the amount of $1,839,586,928.

The Company is funded by the Government of the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago (“GORTT”) to meet its operating and capital expenditure. The Company also receives funding from GORTT for payment of legal and expert fees in the defense of litigation matters, and for settlement of legal claims. After the reporting period, the Company has also accessed debt financing for settlement of contractor payments and legal claims. These borrowings are secured by Unconditional Guarantees from the Government of Trinidad and Tobago, and the Company receives funding from GORTT for the repayment of principal and interest on these facilities. The Company has not defaulted on or refinanced any of its loan obligations. In the absence of continued funding from the GORTT, the material uncertainties detailed above may cast doubt on the Company’s ability to continue as a going concern. Management is of the opinion that the Company’s sand mining operations continue to have a strategic role in the economy’s construction sector. Revenue earned from these operations are expected to improve the performance of the Company as at the date of issue of these financial statements.
